FEBRUARY 2024: KEY POINTS

Seeyond SRI Europe MinVol

Performance: In February, the fund increased by 0.5%, underperforming the MSCI Europe index, which ended the month at +1.9%. Since the beginning of the year, the fund is up +2.9% compared to +3.5% for the index.

Markets: Another good month for risk assets, especially for stock indices, which reached historical highs, such as the S&P 500 surpassing 5000 points and the Nikkei index reaching its highest level since 1989. Economic indicators published throughout February indicated a clear global economic recovery, despite the tight monetary policy in recent years. Global manufacturing activity shows signs of recovery, particularly driven by developed countries, led by the United States. In the Eurozone, despite the sluggish growth in 2023, surveys are stabilizing, also indicating economic resilience. This resilience, coupled with a less restrictive stance from central banks, continued to support the outperformance of momentum and growth segments, which began with the acceleration of the markets in the last quarter of last year.

Performance analysis: This month's performances were characterized by the clear contrast between Cyclical sectors that outperformed, and all ended in positive territory (Materials, Technology, Consumer Cyclical, Industry) and Defensive sectors that underperformed, and all ended the month in negative territory (Healthcare, Consumer Staples, Utilities, Communications). In this context, the monthly underperformance is mainly explained by the negative contribution of our sector allocation. The contribution from stock selection was more balanced, thanks to the positive contributions from UCB (+22.0% for the month), GTT (+9.9%), KPN (+7.5%), Wolters Kluwer (+6.9%), and Prysmian (+12.3%).
